St. James Terminal Open to Media until 6 p.m. CST

Shell St. James Terminal received a shipment of FEMA temporary housing trailers from Louisiana Economic Development (LED) under the direction of Governor Kathleen Babineaux Blanco earlier this week. To date, 482 housing trailers have been delivered to essential businesses throughout the region.

"The impact of this storm on Louisiana's businesses is being felt all over the globe," said Gov. Blanco. "This vital effort will put displaced Louisiana citizens back to work and ultimately provide some relief for all Americans when they visit the gas pump over the coming weeks."

Gary Miller, External Affairs Manager for Shell will be available until 6 p.m. CST today at the St. James Terminal for media interviews this afternoon. The temporary trailers will also be made available for inspection.
